

The World March for Peace & Nonviolence is the concerted effort of more than 1 million people in over 90 countries who yearn for peace and who are calling out for:

- * the eradication of nuclear arms
- * the withdrawal of all armies of occupation
- * the reduction of conventional weapon stockpiles
- * the signing of non-aggression treaties between nations
- * the rejection of war by countries as a means of solving conflicts

"I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the colour of their skin, but by the content of their character."

-Martin Luther King Jr.

"If we are to teach real peace in this world, and if we are to carry on a real war against war, we shall have to begin with the children."

-Gandhi

the Salt March Puzzle

Select the right path for Gandhi and his people to get to the seashore.

In March, 1930, Gandhi and 78 others set off on a 241 mile journey. By the time they reached the seashore, there were thousands of marchers who joined the protest against the British salt tax.

How To Make an Origami Peace Crane

For over 50 years people from around the world have been sending origami cranes to the Children of the A-Bomb statue in the Hiroshima Peace Park as a symbol and wish for a peaceful world.

Peace Mandala

The word, mandala, comes from Sanskrit meaning "circle." Mandalas offer balancing visual elements, symbolizing unity and harmony. The meanings of individual mandalas are different and unique to each mandala. The goal of the mandala is to serve as a tool on our spiritual journey as it symbolizes cosmic and psychic order.

the March on Washington Maze
